Embrace Fall with These Must-Have Home Design Essentials

With summer long gone, it's time for a seasonal update with cashmere throws, leather bar accessories, velvet throw pillows, and more

Swearer weather may be a quaint colloquialism to signify the transition from summer's cottons and linens to merinos and silks as the air turns crisp, but these seasonal shifts extend past the closet and should touch every room in the house. The cooler weather also serves as an invitation to add layers—a cashmere throw here, a leather tray there. With these must-have home design essentials, you'll be ready for autumn long before it's even time to curl up in front of the fire.

The Invisible Collection

Cozy shearling is dominating the winter runways, but in the hands of creative genius Pierre Yovanovitch, the inviting fabric is transformed into a sculptural seat. Handmade in France by artisans in the famous Atelier Jouffre, the Baby Bear armchair is available in three sizes, all built around a solid oak frame.
